Indiana University is currently looking for a talented and highly motivated Visual Media Instructor for our Recording Artist Program.

Indiana University has a top-ranked school of music located in Bloomington, Indiana. Our students arrive with a passion for music and leave with the practical knowledge, technical skills and hands-on experience that it takes to transform their aspirations into careers.

The successful candidate will be able to develop and teach an introductory course in visual media to independent musicians. This program is aimed at musicians who want to record and release their own music (Students will learn about recording and general music business concepts in other classes).

Notes for SV: One Submission (SVOS-1)

Notes

- The student accessed this screen by clicking the 'Submitted Mmm DD, YYYY HH:MM am/pm' link from the Student View of the Assignment List screen (SVAL-1).

Note: The system will display this screen to the student if neither the Grade and Comments or the Feedback has been released.

- System will display breadcrumbs at the top of the screen.
- System will display the assignment title as a page header beneath the breadcrumbs.
- Beneath the assignment title, the system will display the following:
 - * If the student submits the assignment prior to the due date, the system will display: 'Submitted Mmm DD, YYYY HH:MM AM/PM'
 - * If the student submits the assignment after the due date has passed, the system will display: 'Submitted LATE Mmm DD, YYYY HH:MM AM/PM'. 'LATE' will be displayed in red.

Submitted Text

- System will display 'Submitted Text' section if student's submission included submitted text.
- If student's submission did not include submitted text, system will not display 'Submitted Text' section.
- In 'Submitted Text' section, system will display any text submitted by student via the submitted text WYSIWYG editor, including any applied formatting.

Submitted Attachments

- System will display 'Submitted Attachments' section if student's submission included submitted attachments.
- If student's submission did not include submitted text, system will not display 'Submitted Attachments' section.
- In 'Submitted Attachments' section, system will display an attachment icon and the title of the attachment. The title of the attachment is clickable and upon clicking the title of the attachment the system will display a dialog box to open or save the attachment.

Assignment Details

- A collapsible 'Assignment Details' section will display below the first submission.
- To expand the 'Assignment Details' section, the student can click anywhere on the 'Assignment Details' header bar.
- Upon expanding Assignment Details, the system will display: 'Open Date', 'Graded?', 'Points Possible', 'Resubmissions Allowed?', and 'Remaining Submissions Allowed?' as shown on the SV: VIFOS: Expanded Assignment Details and Instructions screen (VIFOS-4).

Your assignment is to write a job description for a position related to visual media. Refer to the reading assignment and the DVD that comes with the textbook for information to get you started. The book primarily focuses on visual media for entertainment and for corporate video projects. There are a host of other types of jobs that aren't covered in the reading, like for video games or websites.

You should include in your paper, but please don't limit your paper to, the following:

- * A list of skills needed to complete the job (keep in mind we're dealing with new media, web, video, etc.).
- * Qualifications
- * Salary Range

Follow the general research paper format (introduction, body, conclusion, references). The textbook should not be your only resource. You will be graded according to how much additional research you've conducted outside of the reading assignment. If you get information from a website, be sure to include the link in your list of references.

Turn in your paper electronically using the Assignments tool by the start of class on Monday, April 7th.

Notes

- The student accessed this screen by clicking either the 'Submitted Mmm DD, YYYY HH:MM am/pm' link or the Feedback envelope icon from the Student View of the Assignment List screen (SVAL-1).

Note: The system will display this screen once either the Grade and Comments or the Assignment Feedback has been released.

Grade Details

- Prior to the release of the grade and comments, the system will display 'N/A' in the Grade field and 'None' in the Comments field as shown on the SV: View Instructor Feedback - One Submission screen (VIFOS-1).

- Once the grade and comments have been released, the system will display the Grade and any associated Comments provided by the instructor to the student as shown on the SV: VIFOS: Display Released Grade and Feedback screen (VIFOS-2).

Note: If the assignment is ungraded, the system will not display this section.

Assignment Feedback

- A collapsible 'Assignment Feedback' section will display below the Grade Details section.

- To expand the 'Assignment Feedback' section, the student can click anywhere on the 'Assignment Feedback' header bar.

- Prior to the release of the feedback, the system will display 'None' in the Assignment Feedback and Feedback Attachments fields and the system will not display the '(Instructor comments are highlighted in yellow)' text next to the Submitted Text header as shown on the SV: View Instructor Feedback - One Submission screen (VIFOS-1).

- Once the feedback has been released, the system will display any Assignment Feedback, Feedback Attachments, and inline comments for Submitted Text provided by the instructor. If inline comments are provided by the instructor, the system will display the '(Instructor comments are highlighted in yellow)' text next to the Submitted Text header. This is shown on the SV: View Instructor Feedback - One Submission screen (VIFOS-2).

Note: System will compare the Original Submitted Text with the Submitted Text (with Instructor comments) and will highlight any additions to the Submitted Text (with instructor comments).

- If no comments were provided by the instructor for the Submitted Text (i.e., If the Original Submitted Text is the same as the Submitted Text with Instructor Comments), the system will collapse the Submitted Text section and will not display the '(Instructor comments are highlighted in yellow)' text as shown on the SV: View Instructor Feedback - One Submission screen (VIFOS-3).

- The system will display submitted attachments beneath the Submitted Attachments header.

Assignment Details

- A collapsible 'Assignment Details' section will display below the first submission.

- To expand the 'Assignment Details' section, the student can click anywhere on the 'Assignment Details' header bar.

- Upon expanding Assignment Details, the system will display: 'Open Date', 'Graded?', 'Points Possible', 'Resubmissions Allowed?', and 'Remaining Submissions Allowed?' as shown on the SV: View Instructor Feedback - One Submission screen (VIFOS-4).

I think Michael Moore's "Bowling for Columbine" is the best documentary I've ever seen. Moore takes on the subject of guns in America, but it seems to me the film is really more about the larger topic of the country's so-called culture of violence. He doesn't get into specific public-policy issues; instead he presents some freewheeling reflections on why so many Americans are killed with guns.

Moore's dark humor made me laugh a lot while watching the movie, but he did leave me pondering certain aspects of American history, mass media, and racial tension. While I don't entirely endorse Moore's views and methods, I found "Bowling for Columbine" to be well worth watching.
